

Dr. Hemi Mohan Prasad Singh
Department of Chemistry

Dr. L.K.V.D College Tappur Samastipur

Q D(-) fructose forms the same osazone as obtained from D(+) glucose - Comment.

Ans The structures and configurations of D(+) glucose and D(-) fructose are identical except at top two terminal C-atoms. Since osazone formation involves only two such C-atoms. Hence glucose and fructose forms identical osazone derivatives.

